Look for nature clues in the winter woods, Feb. 20

GENEVA, IL — Join Forest Preserve District naturalists on a guided walk, Feb. 20, where we'll "read" animal stories by looking for footprints, bark rubbings, or droppings.

It's said that nature is a language; it's for us to learn to read it. Join us for "Reading in the Winter Woods," on Monday, Feb. 20, from 10-11 a.m. at Fabyan East Forest Preserve.

This program is co-sponsored with the Geneva Public Library. This free nature program is for all-ages. You do not have to be a Geneva resident to register.

Registration is required through the Geneva Public Library. Call 630-232-0893 or visit www.gpld.org to register.

Fabyan East Forest Preserve is located at 1500 Crissey Ave., IL Rte. 25, Geneva. We'll meet at shelter #4.
